Dedication

This year we are honouring the tenth anniversary of the St. Mary School. St. Mary School started as a struggling school in the St. Mary parish church basement. The total enrollment of one hundred and forty-nine students entailed grades one to ten.

For the next two years following 1964 an additional grade was added. In 1967 St. Mary School was extremely proud to turn out its' first graduating class. The year 1967 also saw the school extended so that its' complex now included a library and showers.

St. Mary School has enjoyed a steady growth rate. In the ten years that it has been in existence the student population has increased from 149 to 347. With the population of Westlock climbing, we could be quoted as saying that the St. Mary School will enjoy some prosperous times in the years to come. If it wasn't for the diligent members on our school board perhaps the success and progress made during these past ten years may never have been accomplished.

Since this is the tenth anniversary of the St. Mary School we would like to dedicate our yearbook to the supporters, school board members, teachers, parents and students who have made this progress possible.

May our future be even more successful than our past.

Congratulations St. Mary School on your 10th anniversary

My Dear Students,

St. Bernard once wrote to a virgin who had become remiss in her fervor, these words, among other things: "You intended to live in a worldly way, but you could not accomplish what pleased you, and thus you have not rejected the world, but the world has rejected you. Because you had driven away God and the world, you fell, as the saying goes, between two chairs to the ground." These words are applicable to every Christian who tries to serve God and the world at one and the same time; he nowhere finds a hold. If he obeys God, the world mocks him; if he obeys the world, his conscience torments him. No man can serve two masters. Alas! many Christians believe in the pernicious error, that the service of God is connected with too great difficulties, that it demands such frequent and great sacrifices that one can never enjoy life.

In the service of God, you students are allowed to acquire and possess temporal goods; you may be merry and enjoy yourselves. It is not my purpose to recall the problems that lie in your life's path. I, your teachers and your parents have confidence in you. You are and will be well equipped for the trials that lie ahead. The teaching staff with the addition of Father Laliberty fills my soul with pride, confidence and truse in the future of St. Mary School.

May God be with you all, ALWAYS.

Your friend,
Rt. Rev. Monsignor E. Rooney

Dear Students,

Twentieth century man is living in an age in which all values are being reshuffled and rethought; however, mature Christians see the importance of having deep Christian convictions and values. As Christians, we should be aware of the great responsibilities with which we are charged in the bringing up of our children. It is far more than a matter of hygiene, food, chemistry, english, rest and play. In addition to these physical and intellectual needs, what the parents want to provide their children with are the values that they have found to be of eternal worth, those values on which a person can build a strong and lasting future.

The students and I are here together to learn that we can grow and build a future drawing from the Christian values which were planted among us during the years of our early formation. We must now try to specify these values in the kind of life we are actually going to lead. It is now the time to interiorize and appropriate to ourselves the Christian values passed on to us.

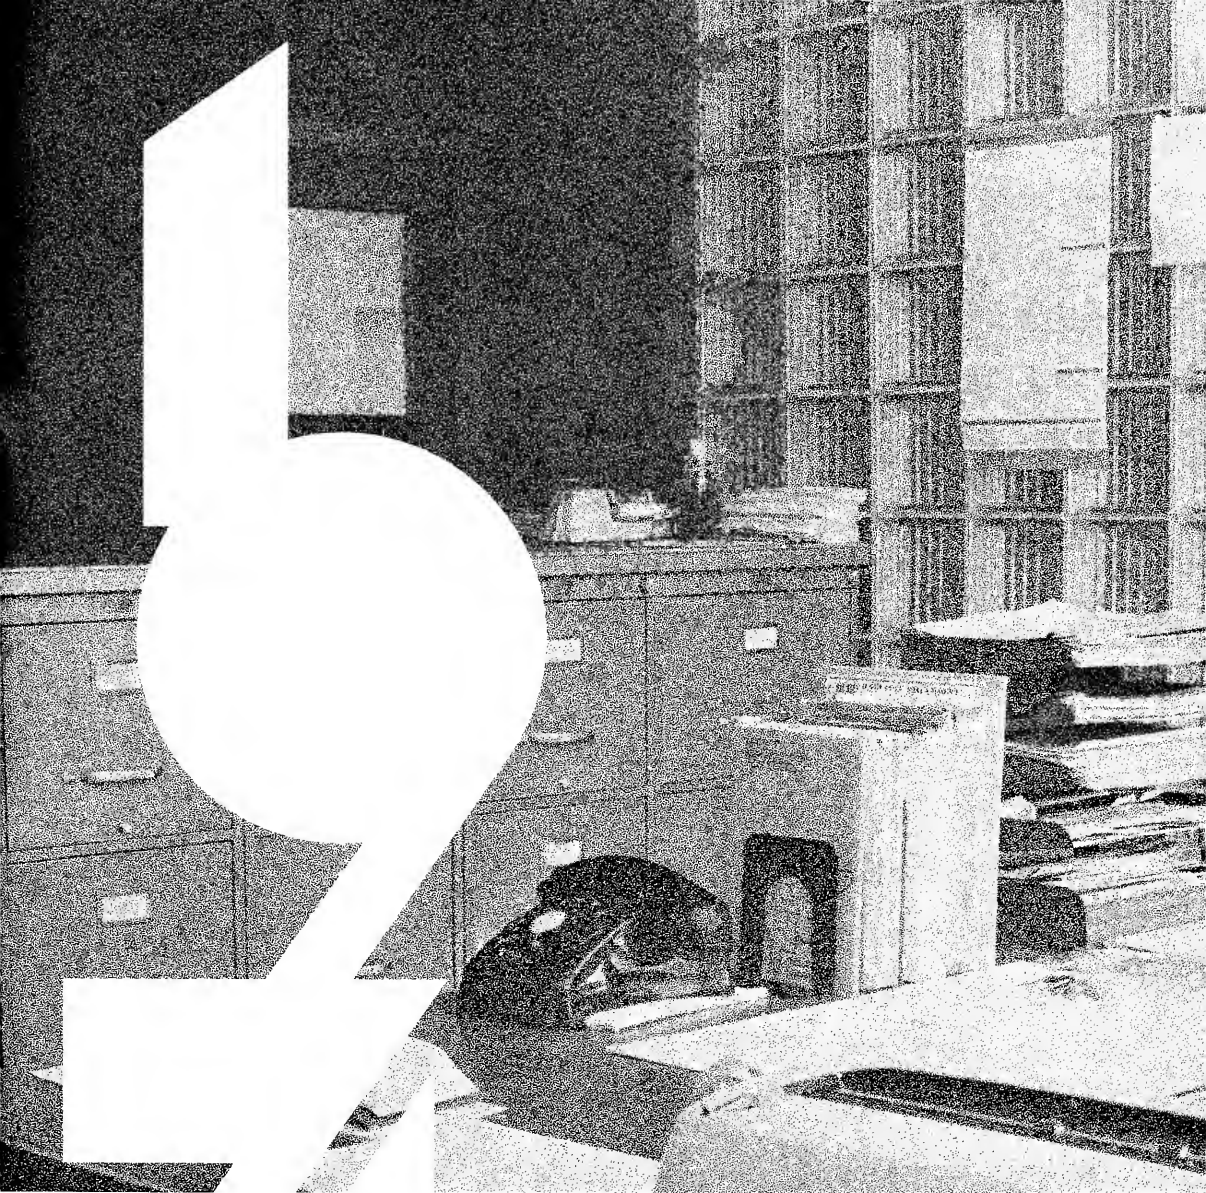

When God speaks to us, He speaks to the whole person. He speaks not only to our mind, but also to our imagination, our feelings, emotions, and sensations. It follows that one of the greatest gifts we can give to young people, as they search for their own unique appropriations of the Christian values, is to learn to value themselves as whole persons. We must work for the full development of all the potentials of today's youth, which includes also the religious dimension of man. The purpose of our teaching at St. Mary's should never forget to help the students appreciate the wealth and beauty of the spiritual dimension of man.

My wish to the students at St. Mary's school is the same one as St. Paul had for his beloved Cblossians:

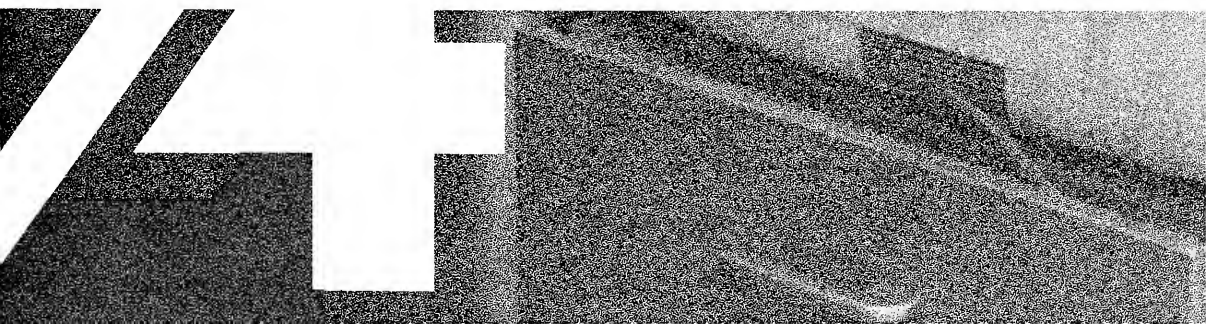

"May you be filled with the knowledge of God's will in all spiritual wisdom and understanding, to lead a life worthy of the Lord, fully pleasing to him, bearing fruit in every good work and increasing in the knowledge of God. May you be strengthened with all power, according to his glorious might, for all endurance and patience with Joy."

Col. 1:9-11

May God bless you,
Father W. Laliberty.

ADMINISTRATION

Principal's Message

Congratulations graduands on this, your graduation year. You are now set to embark on another adventure in life, an adventure into present-day society with its successes and disappointments. The frequency which you experience the joys of success or the pangs of defeat will depend upon your basic philosophy of life which you have developed during the past eighteen years.

Two of the most fatal phrases that are typical of the man who will undoubtedly experience disappointments in life are "What's the use?" and "Why should I?". They mark the dividing line between success and failure for hundreds of thousands of human beings.

"What's the use?" is the philosophy of the man who throws in the towel when the battle has just begun. He is the one who sits down along the side of the road when he finds the signpost has deceived him instead of lengthening his stride. He is satisfied with "good enough". He has no goals, no visions and accepts no challenge.

"Why should I?" is the cry of the work dodger. His aim is to do just enough to "get by". He is a clockwatcher who is afraid he will render more service than he is paid to perform. He is too lazy to think, too selfish to put his shoulder to the wheel in a common cause.

How much more vibrant and dynamic are the phrases, "It can be done!" and "You can count on me!" These phrases sparkle with the spirit of success.

Graduands accept the challenges of life with enthusiasm and confidence and you will be surprised at what you can accomplish. Adopt this positive attitude towards life and I know you will be a success in whatever endeavor you may attempt.

J. Grinnell

The heroine asked the Cheshire Cat...

"Would you tell me please which way I ought to go from here?"

"That depends a great deal on where you want to get to" said the Cat.

"I don't much care where," said Alice.

"Then it doesn't matter which way you go," said the Cat.

".....so long as I get somewhere," Alice added.

"Oh, you're sure to do that," said the Cat, "if you only walk long enough".

The above quote from Alice in Wonderland illustrates a nonchalant, passive attitude that is unfortunately shared by many people both young and old. An often asked question is, what are you interested in and what are your personal goals in life? Too often the answer is, I don't know or I don't care. Not only poor earthlings like you and me but indeed the whole worldly community is looking for a new direction in almost every area of human endeavor. Therefore it is necessary to make a personal assessment of ones strengths and weaknesses, and use this knowledge to pursue the objectives which are important to us. A conscious effort to strive towards predetermined goal will not only give you direction and self satisfaction but you don't have to walk as far either.

Dear Friends,

This year our Yearbook Staff consisted of 17 members. They were the greatest! The success of any yearbook depends on the quality of the students who participate in the production of it. "Days of Future Past" is an example of the ability of students to work together and produce a book that is entertaining and that can capture so vividly the memories of school days.

I'd sincerely like to thank our Advisor, my Co-editor and the Staff for being so co-operative and doing such a great job on the 1974 yearbook. It is through your dedication and hard that we are able to put forth this book. You can be truly proud of it.

THANK YOU

Frosh!

On Sept. 21, 1973 the grade 10 class was greeted enthusiastically by their superior classmen. When they arrived on the day of reckoning their classmen ordered them about. They were then directed, sometimes forcefully, to their classrooms. To fill their noon hour they were displayed uptown. After that experience they were all engaged in an afternoon activity called "Beat the Frosh." So the administration would not feel left out the four new teachers were also called upon to participate in the activity. No hard feelings were felt by the grade 10's as they were dismissed.

It's a bad habit!
